

Bepress Expands Publishing Program With the Addition of 14 Journals

Berkeley Electronic Press (bepress) is pleased to announce the addition of 14 titles to its journal list. These journals contribute high-caliber research to our subject collections in the fields of Economics and Business; Education; Health and Medicine; Law, Political Science and Policy; Science and Technology; and now, for the first time, Statistics.

"We are delighted to welcome so many exceptional titles to our collections," said Barbara Kaplan, Vice President of Business Development, "expanding our society relationships and journal program allows us to provide far more content to the academic community."
